

I, as just an everyday teenager, rely on the internet for so many facets of my life. The amount of information readily available at my fingertips has never been more convenient. I need net neutrality rules to make sure that the internet I use is kept fair and not overridden by those simply looking for profit at the expense of those using it.

So many people have grown to rely on the internet. It is vital to their lives and net neutrality is necessary to make sure those lives aren't negatively affected.
